AMENDED TAX BILL GIVEN TO SENATE

Washington, September 21.—The amended house tax revision bill was presented formally today to the senate by Chairman Penrose, of the finance committee, who gave notice that he would submit the measure tomorrow and urge its passage.

Designed to raise approximately three and a quarter billion of dollars in revenue this fiscal year, the amended measure provides for:

Repeal of the excess profits tax on January 1, 1922, as proposed by the house.

Reduction of the maximum income tax rate from 65 per cent to 32 per cent, effective next January 1, as provided in the house bill, but with changes made in the lower brackets so as to reduce the amount of surtaxes paid by all individuals.

An increase of 5 per cent to 15 per cent in the normal corporation income tax, effective January 1, 1922, in lieu of the 2 1/2 per cent advance agreed upon by the house.

Repeal of the corporation capital stock tax, beginning in 1922, a new provision.

Reduction of the freight and passenger taxes from 3 1/2 per cent to 1 1/2, and 4 per cent respectively, effective next January 1, with their repeal on January 1, 1922.

The house proposed to allow transportation taxes as of next January 1.

Income Exemptions.—An increase of $500 in the exemption allowed to heads of families having net income of $5,000 or less, a house provision.

An increase from $500 to $400 in the exemption allowed to the head of a family, and a house provision.

The finance committee concurred in the house action in repealing the so-called nuisance and luxury taxes, collected direct from the consumer and substituting manufacturers' taxes. These and other minor changes in the bill previously have been published.

An important change in the house bill not heretofore made public deals with taxes on capital net gain. The senate committee measure provides that if any taxpayer derives a capital net gain in any taxable year "such capital net gain shall be stated separately from the ordinary net income in the taxpayer's return and shall be included in the amount of such capital net gain taken into account in determining the amount of the net income upon which taxes are imposed by sections 210, 211 and 212 of this title (the normal income, surtax and corporation tax sections) and shall be included in the amount of the capital net gain."

House Provision.—The house bill provided that in the case of any taxpayer other than a corporation whose ordinary net income and capital net gain together exceeded $20,000, the total tax imposed should be the amount of the tax on the ordinary net income, plus 2 1/2 per cent of the capital gain, or minus 12 1/2 per cent of the loss, as the case may be; but in no case where a taxpayer derives a capital net gain shall the total tax demand be less than 12 1/2 per cent of the total net income.

The change in the present law agreed upon by the finance committee provides that in the case of a bona fide sale of mines, oil, or gas wells, or any interest therein, where the principal view of the property has been demonstrated by prospecting or exploration and discovery work done by the taxpayer, the part of the tax imposed by the income surtax section of the law attributable to such sale shall not exceed after this calendar year 16 per cent of the selling price of such property, or interest thereon.

The rate under the present law is 20 per cent and it is continued for this calendar year.

When Senator Penrose offered the bill, Senator Underwood, of Alabama, democratic leader, obtained unanimous consent for the filing of the minority report within seven days. Senator La Follette, of Wisconsin, a republican member of the finance committee, also obtained consent to file dissenting views within that time should he decide to do so.

tions not pertaining to the treaties would be rigorously excluded.

Senator Penrose reported the revenue bill as soon as the senate met Wednesday, and announced that he would ask for a beginning of discussion Thursday when the committee report on the bill had been received from the printer. Senator Underwood, democratic leader, said the minority report would require seven days in which to prepare its report on the bill.

The determination of days to push the anti-beer bill means that it may not be able to come up for debate at any time. Senator Stirling called it up Wednesday, and started a sharp parliamentary fight. Senator Reed, democratic leader, made a motion to adjourn, which was defeated, 33-107. Then Reed argued that it was unfair to insist on consideration of the bill, when many senators were withheld to oppose it. He said the senate would not be in session until there was no filibuster against the bill, but that one might develop if days were insisted. The dispute ended when Senator Curtis moved for an executive session. At one time Stirling persuaded the senate to send the sergeant-at-arms in search of absent members because there was no quorum.

Leaders Hold Place.—The call to roll called for the expected, will cause a discussion between now and the time for a vote. The fact that it is unfinished business will make necessary its displacement to begin consideration of the revenue bill.

The possibility of changes in leadership in both parties, aroused by the fact that Senators Lodge and Underwood have been named delegates to the armament conference, apparently has died a-borning. Both leaders have expressed belief that they will be able to retain their offices, with their assistants functioning when it is necessary for them to be absent.

The house, where little important legislation is pending, adjourned Wednesday until Saturday, soon after it reassembled.

list of The Searchlight, for $200, and when arrested, Meyers had the list in his possession. The detectives state that the details of the entire plot are known to them, and that a man who long ago was a newspaper is now under surveillance on account of his alleged activities in Atlanta.

"It is understood that representation from the bureau of investigation of the Knights of the Ku Klux Klan assisted the detectives in the apprehension of Meyers, and that they will continue their efforts in the prosecution of parties now in the hands of the authorities, with the disappearance of other documents."

Meyers Denies Charge.
Meyers declares that he is the victim of a frame-up and the enemy of the Klan for the reason that he is a Catholic.

"I am employed as a pressman by the Western Newspaper Union, the printers of The Searchlight," said Meyers. "A few days ago I was approached by a man I have frequently seen about the subscription list of the paper, as he wanted me to look through the list and tell him for purposes of comparison. I told him I would look around the shop to find one. I did find an old book and was taking it out of the building when I was pounced on and arrested."

"It is simply a frame-up because I am a Catholic. The talk about my receiving $300 for the list is all a lie. I have never received a cent for it. In fact the man never mentioned money to me. I picked up the list merely as a personal favor to him."

Demand by Bate.
Throughout the day, Imperial Kluge Clarke, of the alleged organization, and his associates, associated with him in the publicity department, were the storm center of Klan activities.

There was a demand made by telegram of Colonel W. J. Simmons, official of the Klan, that Clarke and Mrs. Tyler be removed immediately for the good of the Klan.

There was a telegram sent by Mrs. Tyler discharging Bate from any connection with the order. Clarke and Mrs. Tyler both tendered their resignations to Colonel Simmons, contingent, however, on his decision as to whether or not the further connection with the order would be perilous to its future.

W. F. Brandt, an Atlanta attorney, went to Solicitor-General John B. Ely, of the United States department, and demanded a grand jury investigation of the disappearance of the Clarke-Tyler record.

While all this was happening, Colonel Simmons, the imperial wizard, remained at his headquarters, the home built for him by the Ku Klux order on Peachtree road, saying as little as possible.

Withholding Judgment.
Colonel Simmons admitted receiving the New Jersey request, but declared that he had taken no action on it. He said he had not been able to get any information from him and was withholding judgment. He would not say whether or not Bate had been discharged from Klan service, but intimated that his connection with the Klan was unimportant. "He is just an organizer," explained the wizard.

Solicitor-General John A. Boykin declared Wednesday night that he had made no plans for a grand jury investigation of the Ku Klux imbroglio. "I understand from the papers that Mr. Brandt called at my office to request a grand jury investigation of the disappearance of the police court records," said Boykin. "I was not in when he called. As a matter of fact I was not at the courthouse all day, but otherwise engaged. However, if Mr. Brandt has a complaint to make, the grand jury meets in regular session Friday and he will have his opportunity at that time. There has been a violation of the law by any man or set of men, the public may rest assured that I will prosecute it to the extent of my powers."

Telegram From Bate.
The telegram from Bate, who is a member of the imperial wizard, was addressed to Colonel Simmons and made public in New Jersey. It read:

"Klans in New Jersey are surprised that you have not forced Clarke and Mrs. Tyler to sever connection with the organization in view of what has now become international knowledge. We demand that said two be dismissed at once. Remember this is no time of hesitancy and doubt. We demand that if we are clean, unless you do so the entire house that you have constructed will fall upon your head and no one can be blamed for it except yourself."

Discharges Bate.
But before tendering her resignation, Mrs. Tyler took time by the forelock according to her own statement, and discharged Bate by telegram. "He was nothing more nor less than a disgruntled officer," she declared, "and like a lot of other scoundrels wanted to get on the bandwagon and have the authority to fire Bate and he has been definitely discharged. I know the mind of Colonel Simmons on such questions and my action is final in the matter."

Clarke and Mrs. Tyler tendered their resignations separately and individually. Both were offered "whenever Colonel Simmons thought that both of either of us were injured by the Klan by our association with it," explained Mrs. Tyler.

"Under no circumstances," she said, "will we under the progress of the organization, and it was for this reason and this reason alone that we tendered our resignations to take place at Colonel Simmons' pleasure."

"Under no circumstances," she said, "will we under the progress of the organization, and it was for this reason and this reason alone that we tendered our resignations to take place at Colonel Simmons' pleasure."

The imperial wizard would give no intimation as to what he intended doing with the resignations. His attitude was inclined to be judicial. "I want everybody interested in this matter to have his or her say so that I may have every fact at hand before I take any action. When everybody is through talking then, maybe, I will have my say."

Has Taken No Action.
"It is true that I have in my hand the resignations of Mrs. Tyler and Mr. Clarke, but as complete facts surrounding the charges brought against them are yet to be obtained by me, I have taken no action. I will state in this connection that I only became acquainted with Mrs. Tyler and Mr. Clarke two years ago and know positively nothing of their affairs prior to that time, but since I have been associated with them, I have found Mrs. Tyler to be a high class lady and Mr. Clarke a thorough gentleman."

And while the future status of the imperial wizard and his associate this time are with the imperial wizard, the investigation of the police court case of 1919 when Clarke and Mrs. Tyler were arrested on complaint of Mrs. Clarke proceeded. It developed that the page of the record, which had disappeared during the past year, was a page from a New York newspaper. A detective had obtained a certified copy of the record five days ago and that time the record has vanished.

J. H. McKelvey, clerk of the recorder's court, gave out a statement in which he cast his suspicions on a representative of The New York World as having fished the record. However, detectives do not consider this theory seriously. It is stated, cannot see it.

They Cannot Reason Out What Motive The New York World Would Have in Taking Away the Record. Judge Heavens explained that the theft of this page would be comparable to an act of espionage. The records of my court are public," he said, "and people are constantly coming in and asking for certified copies of dispositions of cases. Any person who has access to the books, and it is a matter of fact, whoever did it to remove the page in question, is making an investigation and when he finds the guilty persons, I'll see to it that the grand jury gets their cases. I have been recorder for eight years and never before have I heard of a page being torn out of the docket. Records that cases are frequently cut from the docket are absolutely false."

Chief Heavens admitted Wednesday that little progress has been made in tracing the mutilator of the docket. "The recorder is responsible for the loss," said the chief, "but it would be very easy for any one to slip into the clerk's room and remove a page from the book. The court room is never locked."

Less Important, He Says.
"The disappearance of the index cards in the Tyler and Clarke case, I consider, a less important matter, as duplicate cards may readily be made from the police docket in the station lieutenant's office, which carry a more complete record of police cases than the recorder's docket. Mr. McClain, the recorder keeper, is inquiring into the disappearance, however. I find that the station lieutenant's record of the Clarke-Tyler arrests has not been tampered with."

Arnold Broyles, clerk of superior court, attacked the bill of complaint in the Clarke divorce case as being misfiling from his files. These divorce case papers are frequently withdrawn by attorneys for action in other courts. After that they are returned by the lawyers to avoid publicity for their clients. The court may order the restoration of the papers at any time, he explained.

Franklin Ellis, of Bell & Ellis, attorneys in the case, declared that his office has been unable to find the original complaint. "How," said Mr. Ellis, "we have copies of it here, which we can certify to at any time."

Representative Teague, of New York, introduced his resolution asking for a congressional probe, with the reassembling of the house.

Mr. Teague described the organization as "an iniquitous secret order," which, he said, operates "with gross degeneracy in the darkness." He would have an investigation made by a special committee of five.

Information collected by the department of justice about the Klan has been laid before President Harding. Attorney Daugherty emphasized that the most careful study would be made before any policy toward the society was adopted.

Solicitor-General John A. Boykin declared Wednesday night that he had made no plans for a grand jury investigation of the Ku Klux imbroglio. "I understand from the papers that Mr. Brandt called at my office to request a grand jury investigation of the disappearance of the police court records," said Boykin. "I was not in when he called. As a matter of fact I was not at the courthouse all day, but otherwise engaged. However, if Mr. Brandt has a complaint to make, the grand jury meets in regular session Friday and he will have his opportunity at that time. There has been a violation of the law by any man or set of men, the public may rest assured that I will prosecute it to the extent of my powers."

Telegram From Bate.
The telegram from Bate, who is a member of the imperial wizard, was addressed to Colonel Simmons and made public in New Jersey. It read:

"Klans in New Jersey are surprised that you have not forced Clarke and Mrs. Tyler to sever connection with the organization in view of what has now become international knowledge. We demand that said two be dismissed at once. Remember this is no time of hesitancy and doubt. We demand that if we are clean, unless you do so the entire house that you have constructed will fall upon your head and no one can be blamed for it except yourself."

Discharges Bate.
But before tendering her resignation, Mrs. Tyler took time by the forelock according to her own statement, and discharged Bate by telegram. "He was nothing more nor less than a disgruntled officer," she declared, "and like a lot of other scoundrels wanted to get on the bandwagon and have the authority to fire Bate and he has been definitely discharged. I know the mind of Colonel Simmons on such questions and my action is final in the matter."

Clarke and Mrs. Tyler tendered their resignations separately and individually. Both were offered "whenever Colonel Simmons thought that both of either of us were injured by the Klan by our association with it," explained Mrs. Tyler.

"Under no circumstances," she said, "will we under the progress of the organization, and it was for this reason and this reason alone that we tendered our resignations to take place at Colonel Simmons' pleasure."

Has Taken No Action.
"It is true that I have in my hand the resignations of Mrs. Tyler and Mr. Clarke, but as complete facts surrounding the charges brought against them are yet to be obtained by me, I have taken no action. I will state in this connection that I only became acquainted with Mrs. Tyler and Mr. Clarke two years ago and know positively nothing of their affairs prior to that time, but since I have been associated with them, I have found Mrs. Tyler to be a high class lady and Mr. Clarke a thorough gentleman."

And while the future status of the imperial wizard and his associate this time are with the imperial wizard, the investigation of the police court case of 1919 when Clarke and Mrs. Tyler were arrested on complaint of Mrs. Clarke proceeded. It developed that the page of the record, which had disappeared during the past year, was a page from a New York newspaper. A detective had obtained a certified copy of the record five days ago and that time the record has vanished.

J. H. McKelvey, clerk of the recorder's court, gave out a statement in which he cast his suspicions on a representative of The New York World as having fished the record. However, detectives do not consider this theory seriously. It is stated, cannot see it.

They Cannot Reason Out What Motive The New York World Would Have in Taking Away the Record. Judge Heavens explained that the theft of this page would be comparable to an act of espionage. The records of my court are public," he said, "and people are constantly coming in and asking for certified copies of dispositions of cases. Any person who has access to the books, and it is a matter of fact, whoever did it to remove the page in question, is making an investigation and when he finds the guilty persons, I'll see to it that the grand jury gets their cases. I have been recorder for eight years and never before have I heard of a page being torn out of the docket. Records that cases are frequently cut from the docket are absolutely false."

Chief Heavens admitted Wednesday that little progress has been made in tracing the mutilator of the docket. "The recorder is responsible for the loss," said the chief, "but it would be very easy for any one to slip into the clerk's room and remove a page from the book. The court room is never locked."

Less Important, He Says.
"The disappearance of the index cards in the Tyler and Clarke case, I consider, a less important matter, as duplicate cards may readily be made from the police docket in the station lieutenant's office, which carry a more complete record of police cases than the recorder's docket. Mr. McClain, the recorder keeper, is inquiring into the disappearance, however. I find that the station lieutenant's record of the Clarke-Tyler arrests has not been tampered with."

Arnold Broyles, clerk of superior court, attacked the bill of complaint in the Clarke divorce case as being misfiling from his files. These divorce case papers are frequently withdrawn by attorneys for action in other courts. After that they are returned by the lawyers to avoid publicity for their clients. The court may order the restoration of the papers at any time, he explained.

Franklin Ellis, of Bell & Ellis, attorneys in the case, declared that his office has been unable to find the original complaint. "How," said Mr. Ellis, "we have copies of it here, which we can certify to at any time."

Representative Teague, of New York, introduced his resolution asking for a congressional probe,

MINERS TO FIGHT FOR HIGHER WAGE

Vice President of Union Says Demand Is Foregone Conclusion, in Report to Convention.

Indianapolis, September 21.—That the United Mine Workers of America at their convention now in session here will declare in favor of fighting for higher wages was stated as a foregone conclusion today by Philip Murray, vice president of the union, in his report to the convention. He indicated that the increase along with improved working conditions, would be sought in making new agreements with operators that will supplant the present agreements in both anthracite and bituminous coal fields, which expire next March.

With the traditional policy of the great organization forever in mind, said Murray, "I am sure that it is the purpose of this convention to declare to the world that we propose not only to hold what we have got, but to improve upon the same upon the expiration of the present agreements."

Now Earn $1,500 Annually.
The question may be asked why the United Mine Workers of America assume the attitude that not only do they propose to maintain their present wage scale, but to prove upon the same when practicing every other organization in the United States has accepted wage cuts during the present year. We can only answer such questions by saying that for years the annual earnings of the mine workers have been considerably lower than that of men engaged in other lines of industry.

Under our present wage scale with the mines operating as they have been during normal times on an average of about 200 days a year, the day wage scale of $7.50 a day for day men and an average of about the same for tonnage men, our people cannot be expected to expect in annual earnings the sum of $1,500. It will be considered, I believe, by all fair minded men that a wage scale that only enables the men engaged in the mining of coal to earn $1,500 a year is not an excessive one."

Wants New Laws.
Aside from discussing wage demands, Mr. Murray, who is in charge of the union's organization work declared in favor of renewing organization work in Alabama, predicted that the Jingo county, West Virginia, miners would continue their fight for union, recognition and asserted that the present industrial depression was due to capital generally refusing to reduce profits.

Recommendation was made by Mr. Murray that new legislation be sought by organized labor for meeting the situation in Jingo county, West Virginia, where he said all trouble was due to the presence of "gangs and gunmen," whose conduct has caused the mountaineer miners to rebel. Quiet in Jingo, he said, would continue as long as the federal troops remain there, but he added their withdrawal would leave behind "the source of all this evil."

The detectives, he said, had been imported into West Virginia by the operators opposing the union.

MAN IS ARRESTED ON SERIOUS CHARGE

Savannah, Ga., September 21.—(Special)—George Byrd, a young white man, 27 years old, is under arrest here for alleged improper liberties taken with a little 5-year-old girl who identified the man as having acted improperly when she and her 4-year-old sister were in Forsyth and Colonial parks. When arrested the man flashed a badge, "deputy sheriff," on the patrolman, and the additional charge of impersonating an officer is considered.

Young Traveler Finds Con Men Are Still Busy

BY HUBERT LEE.
Berton Byers, 11-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Byers, of Chase, Ala., who is visiting Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Hayes at 2 May avenue, related a woe-tale on arriving here of his adventures with confidence men. Berton, it appears, had secured permission of his parents, after considerable persuasion, to come to Atlanta alone, on a vacation.

Mrs. Byers, his mother, had cautioned the lad not to talk to strangers or to reveal to anyone the presence of a small sum of money sewed-up in his coat. All went well with the boy until Memphis, Tenn., was reached. Following his mother's directions, he checked the suit case and sat down in the station to await the arrival of the Atlanta bound train.

A stranger approached and began questioning the boy, and after learning that he was unaccompanied, began to tell him about the dangers confronting him. Confident that he had found a friend, the boy followed his advice to take his suit case out of the baggage room to prevent the possibility that it might be stolen. Then the money was ripped from its place of safety and turned over to the new-found friend.

Following a stroll around the block, he returned to discover stranger, money and suitcase all gone, without a trace.

A jolly Irish policeman wondering why the boy had remained after the train had gone, inquired the reason.

"I am waiting for a man to bring my suit case back," was the boy's reply. The Traveler's Aid representative on duty at Memphis wired his parents and cared for his wants until the next train brought him to Atlanta.

M'WHORTER CHARGED WITH BEATING WIFE

Nat McWhorter, a negro bootlegger who came to the attention of the public through being a witness against accused officers in the recent bunco probe, was Wednesday morning arrested by Police Sam Mashburn upon complaint by his wife that he had beaten her. McWhorter was charged with disorderly conduct and is booked for trial before Recorder Johnson Thursday morning.

RACIAL PROBLEMS ARE CONSIDERED

Resolutions expressing optimism in reference to the solution of present and future racial problems in the south were passed unanimously by more than two hundred representatives of local Presbyterian churches Wednesday afternoon in the First Presbyterian church at the close of an all-day session, which is held annually and known as "Black Wednesday."

This is the third time "Black Wednesday" has been held in Atlanta, and as far as is known the day is observed in no other part of the country. Its purpose is to discuss racial problems and make plans for bettering relations between whites and blacks.

The Presbyterian churches of Atlanta have two centers here for work among the negroes. They are known as the Frazier street mission and the Pittsburg mission. Wednesday's meeting was presided over by L. D. Strauss, chairman of the committee on work among negroes in the Atlanta presbytery.

Among the speakers were Miss Lilla Head, Mrs. Archibald Davis, Mrs. W. C. Winborough, Mrs. Edgar Watkins, Mrs. L. G. Worsham, Rev. Graham E. Campbell, R. M. Matson and James Morton.

Part of the resolutions follow: "We note with satisfaction the continued growth and fruitfulness of the work carried on by white people for negroes in the two gospel centers in Atlanta, maintained by Presbyterians."

"We earnestly commend to Presbyterian churches in other communities the opportunity for organized effort for negroes along the lines followed in Louisville, Ky., Richmond, Va., and Atlanta."

"And our professed conviction is that the negro problem can be solved by Christianity alone."

It is our belief that most men buy clothes through confidence in some one—either the manufacturer, the dealer or some individual in the dealer's employ. It has been our task through nearly three-quarters of a century of manufacturing Adler Collegian Clothes to maintain your confidence in us, and strengthen your confidence in your dealer and his associates. Here are seven definite reasons, each a distinct service effort, to gain your confidence:

- ① Style—Adler Collegian Clothes are planned by one of the highest-salaried designers in the world.
- ② All Wool—Every article of Adler Collegian Clothes is all wool to the last inch.
- ③ Silk-sewn Seams—In Adler Collegian Clothes seams are stitched with finest silk thread.
- ④ Double Shrinking—Every inch of Adler Collegian material is double shrunk.
- ⑤ Fabric Materials—Few mills are able or willing to meet Adler Collegian standards in the matter of all wool fabrics.
- ⑥ Tailoring—Recognizing fine tailoring as adding the final note of distinction, Adler Collegian requirements in this regard are most rigid.
- ⑦ Seventy-two Years of Success—Through seventy-two years we have made Adler Collegian Clothes better and better each season.

THE SWIMMING POOLS.

To the many thousands who have enjoyed the city's swimming pools during the summer it is the "irony of fate" that they should be closed at the very time when they would have offered greater relief from the inordinate heat weather than at any other period since the pools were opened to the public this year.

It is too late now to remedy the situation for this season, for the pools were closed on September 11, and it is stated that it is impossible to get them in shape for reopening now, notwithstanding the fact that the city is now in the midst of the worst "hot wave" of the year.

Just why the swimming pools were ordered closed so early in September we do not know, for it is not on record that a frost visit Atlanta during the month of September, and as a general proposition this is usually the hottest month of the year.

But this experience should be an object lesson to the city administration, which should see to it that hereafter the swimming pools are kept open at least until October 1. At least provision should be made for their being kept open as long as they would meet such a demand as exists now for them. If cold weather should come before October 1 it would be a very easy matter to close the pools.

It was inexcusable to take advantage action that would arbitrarily close them on September 11, regardless of the state of the weather, and, as it happens, at the very time when they were more often needed.

A "DRESSY" STATESMAN.

There are full-length pictures of certain eminent statesmen which suggest that they were taken near the sign of "Trousers Creased While You Wait;" or that the originals had been freshly groomed for the look-pleasant-please ordeal.

And, of course, it's all right for the great ones, as well as the rest of the world, to face photographer or painter as spick-and-span as they please. But sometimes their dress is not "characteristic," and gives the impression that they "primped for the occasion."

This critical public is inclined to resent, as in the case of Premier Lloyd-George, of which The Manchester Guardian says—

"In reference to certain criticisms of the immaculate clothes worn by Mr. Lloyd-George in the Carnarvon statue Sir W. Grosvenor John has uttered the great sentiment—that he regards Mr. Lloyd-George as 'quite a dandy man.' The tribute is one that should give the premier a new distinction among our statesmen, for not very many of them would take high rank in that respect."

That word, "dandy," is objected to by admirers of the statesman who now anxiously peers through a convenient window blind for the wished-for approach of Ireland to the waiting open door.

But so far he himself has voiced no protest as to going down to posterity that way. Even if he is "all dressed up," he, at least, has somewhere to go!

No British statesman—or any other—it is pointed out, should be so careless of his attire as to appear as Gladstone sometimes did, with the front of his cravat on the back of his neck. But he should resemble himself more in his pictured public dress.

We have seen pictures of Lloyd-George, as of our own "Uncle Joe" Cannon, with the bottom of one trouser-leg climbing over a shoe-top; and that is the appearance even Woodrow Wilson presented on a notable occasion in one of his war pictures. And, so far from any looks of frowning disapproval, the grouped spectators merely seemed amused. Those who were near enough to notice particularly must have smilingly reflected that little things like that make the great ones seem just like the rest of us—bring them closer home!

Incidentally, "Uncle Joe" Cannon doesn't give a thrup for an unruly thrup. And it wouldn't do to call him "dandy," though he's fine and fit enough.

Let the great ones appear as they will to sculptor and painter, but it is best that they should look natural, with nothing to suggest "pose," one way or another.

Airships will soon be within reach of all; and what a satisfaction it will be to put one over on the speeding auto you just can't side-step.

Congress had a fairly long recess, with this drawback: Explaining things at home was too much like work.

CAMPAIN PLANNED FOR BUILDING FUND

Plans were completed at a meeting of the trustees of the Holmes Institute Tuesday afternoon, to open a campaign to raise funds for the completion of the new $50,000 building of the Holmes Institute, which is now in course of erection at the corner of Hilliard and Currier streets.

The campaign will open with a mass meeting in the Bethel A. M.

3, at 8 o'clock. The address will be delivered by Bishop I. N. Ross, of Washington, D. C., presiding bishop of the Twelfth Episcopal church, who was formerly pastor of Bethel A. M. E. church. Bishop
S. P. Plummer, head of the A. M.
E. church in Georgia, will preside and make the opening address. The meeting will be featured by a chorus of 100 voices, composed of the leading choirs of the city.

Rev. B. R. Holmes, president, who recently returned from a two month tour in the interest of raising funds for the Holmes Institute, states that more than $10,000
is needed to complete the building,

Health Talks

EXERCISE AND REST.
It is difficult to estimate whether exercise or rest does the greater amount of harm or good in health and disease, for each of these supreme remedies is capable of doing so much of both.

It is a most bewildering thing, the perversion of invalids in the matter of exercise and rest. Some of the most serious cases of disease seem to be those who sorely need rest, such as persons with active tuberculosis, anemias, and the like, who are about giving up their lives, and yet who are being kept on their feet by "strong" exer-

VIRGINIA IS ABOUT READY

BY WILLARD JACKSON.
Charlottesville, Va., September 21. (Special.)—Coach Rino Warren's galaxy of football warriors at the University of Virginia are undergoing a strenuous week of training in preparation for the initial football contest that takes place here Saturday with Davidson college.

The backfield has several promising football men struggling for a regular position in addition to Captain Rinehart and Oppelman, who received their letters last year for admirably filling the places at the backfield. The fullback berth appears to be between Zundel and Harris, of the last year's squad, and Maphis, who has weight and speed, of the freshman team. Witt and Carlington, who also had charge of the generalship end of the eleven in 1920, will probably perform at this position throughout the present season.

The Great Ends.
Former Captain Michie and Newman are on hand for the cause. They both have made enviable records at Virginia at Rino's side. Competition, however, for ends is made keen by the appearance of Brown and Dietrich, last year's freshman outfit, and Stephenson, who played several games as substitute the past season.

Clark, Hall, Crutchins and Caldwell are fighting for the tackle. The first two were starters last year, while Crutchins played a powerful defensive game last year, while Caldwell has made a football reputation at the University of Mississippi.

Walker and Minor. Rums are to be expected that Tom Davies, former star for the Pittsburgh Panthers, will be added to the coaching staff, but no official announcement has been made to this effect.

Following the game with Davidson, Virginia will prepare for contests that include the University of Georgia, Princeton, West Virginia, Georgia Washington, V. M. I., North Carolina, Johns Hopkins and Richmond college.

OUIMET IS BEATEN, BUT BOBBY WINS

the last. At lunch they were one hole apart, Outmet having the advantage. At the 27th hole Johnston was one up. Here, with spectators deserting other matches in great numbers to follow the struggling golfers, the match became exciting.

As an example of championship play there have been much better matches, but from sheer excitement and tense situations, the match seemed definitely out of it, and then the other, it has seldom been equal.

Outmet can blame his downfall to his putter. On the tenth of the last nine he had a chance to square the match. He missed a one-foot putt. Again on the eleventh, he missed a four-footer for a halve, when he should have had a three.

Then came three head-on collisions. Both had fine drives on the fifteenth. Johnston followed with a fine iron shot and had a chance to win, but he missed a six-foot putt and halved in five.

Short Sixteenth. Outmet was on the green in one, but Johnston was in a trap and his put shot just outside the hole. Johnston was still off the green. Outmet putted from the edge of the green and missed. Here was a critical spot for Johnston. A bad shot and he was through. He chipped the beauty to within three feet of the pin and when Outmet missed another three-footer causing a sharp gasp from thousands of throats—the Minnesota golfer had another chance and the hole was halved in four. On the 17th Johnston dubbed his drive to the left and had to shoot out from beneath a tree. Outmet was on the green in two.

Then Johnston showed why Outmet's defeat cannot be charged to "the Bostonian's putter without reservations. Outmet shot a beautiful niblick shot to within a few yards of the pin. It looked like about 150 yards, which is a fair wallop from the rough with a tree branch hanging before your eyes. He had a 20-foot putt. He was three feet short and when Johnston sunk his hole and Outmet missed, the hole was again halved. They were in the home stretch—the 18th hole a long one. Both drove like demons, and their balls were within five yards of each other about 250 yards. Both had fine iron shots and Johnston missed, the hole was again halved. The dramatic failure of the former champion—and a new golf sensation had skyrocketed across the horizon.

Jesse Guilford, Boston, defeated Dewey Weber, Chicago, 2 and 1; Jesse Sweetser, New York, defeated L. E. Bunnings, Chicago, 4 and 3; Charles Evans, Chicago, defeated R. E. Bokenkamp, St. Louis, 7 and 6.

Nor was this match between Outmet and Johnston the only sensation of the day. Jimmie Marion, St. Louis, gave Willie Hunter, British amateur champion, a battle that did not end until the 35th green when Hunter won 2 and 1.

The other matches finished as expected, although Tommy Armour,

Fearless Ferns Has Tough Task Sure to Give Lawler Real Battle

BY FUZZY WOODRUFF

Walk Miller isn't a bit bashful about his protegee of the combative nomenclature, Mr. Fearless Ferns. He doesn't do a thing with Mr. Ferns but permit him to reach a place in pugilism where he can have profitable and fairly safe sailing with the scrappers of his poundage of this section and then chuck him in against Jack Lawler, one of the nation's top-notchers. And Miller thinks that Ferns can win.

I don't know about that, but I am pretty positive that Ferns can give Lawler a mighty interesting fight and if Lawler will only consent to mix things with the young gentleman of the combative nomenclature Monday night, he will likely regret ever having come to Atlanta, as with his astute and diplomatic manager, the esteemed Joe Levy.

Lawler, it is said, has developed a knockout. He stopped Red Dolan in New Orleans last week or two back, and Dolan is nobody's easy pickings. He is a tough, aggressive, durable boy, who knows his business. As far as I have been able to judge, Lawler's one fault has been his unwillingness to fight at close quarters, and of course he must have his own tactics if he is to knock out a boy of the Dolan type.

He has probably the best conditions to mix things with anybody. He isn't a fancy boxer, but he is a fighter of a sort, though, the kind that goes in to knock somebody else out. He is a fighter, and he is a fighter, and he is a fighter.

Barnett to Have Another Fling

Battling Barnett, who has an ambitious program for the fall and winter, is matched in the semi-weekly against Rabbit Palmer, a dangerous, hard-hitting boy, who fought much a slashing six-round draw with Kid Young a few weeks back.

Barnett, after a long illness, is coming back slowly. Since he returned to activities, he has stopped Kid Young and made Al De Rose the Camp Benning champion, all but jump out of the ring. He looks in fine fettle and doubtless if he can dispose of Palmer, he will become a headline once more.

But that's something else again. Rabbit Palmer knows a lot himself and he's a puncher of excellence. He is the only boy, who has boxed around here, who has a clean knockout over Freddie Boorde in his credit and Atlanta fans know that a man must hit to put Freddie away. Battling Budd, a tremendous hitter, swatted Freddie flush on the button in their last scrap, and didn't make Freddie do more than open his mouth.

Young Silvers to Make His Debut.
Young Silvers, a promising Hebrew battler, who has been boxing for some time as an amateur, is making his professional debut in one of the preliminary bouts with Bud Connolly, a willing veteran, who hasn't appeared locally in some time.

Experts who have seen Silvers' work say that he is a marvel of speed and boxing ability. He isn't either, but he is a useful sort of a fighter, who his straight and scientific style will be watched with interest. Silvers was abruptly halted by Panama Joe Gans, begins the weary work of the preliminary bouts with a formidable and monster kid, Kid Brown. The battle should be full of action.

All in all, Promoter Miller has arranged an entirely attractive card.

Scott gave Bob Gardner, former champion, a hard battle which ended with Gardner the victor, 4 and 3.
By the way, the fight between Scott and Bon Stein, Seattle, easily, 7 and 6, and thus put the Pacific coast in a bit of a lull.

A few minutes before Bobby Jones, Atlanta, finished an easy match.

Charles Evans beat Richard Bokenkamp, St. Louis, 7 and 6; Jesse Guilford, Boston, won from Dewey Weber, Chicago, 3 up and Jesse Sweetser, New York, defeated Lee Bunnings, Chicago, 4 and 3.

ARBUCKLE TALKED OF CRIME, HE SAYS

In relation to the Arbuckle murder trial, the grand jury of the San Francisco grand jury, District Attorney Brady said.

Brady said he would have Semmacher arrested tomorrow for further questioning. He announced also that Lovell Sherman, another witness, was being held by the grand jury in the event he fails to answer Brady's demand to return to San Francisco.

Semmacher telephoned from Los Angeles later that he did not have money enough to come to San Francisco to give testimony in the case. He said he was being held by the grand jury in the event he fails to answer Brady's demand to return to San Francisco.

"I told him to get up here without any loss of life or suffer the consequences," Brady said. "It seems strange to me that he could bring Miss Rappe and Mrs. Delmont to San Francisco from Los Angeles in an automobile and evidently spend a lot of money here and then suddenly lose all he has in the world."

Semmacher motivated from Los Angeles with Miss Rappe and Mrs. Delmont, who brought the murder charges against Arbuckle, a few days before the party in which Arbuckle is alleged to have fatally injured Miss Rappe, Frederick Fishback and Ira C. Fortoulis, who were guests at the party in the Hotel St. Francis in which Arbuckle is charged with having fatally injured Miss Rappe, arrived in San Francisco from Los Angeles today, Brady announced, and will be questioned later.

Brady said that Semmacher testified before the grand jury here that Semmacher had no admissions to him whatever concerning his alleged relations with Miss Rappe, which is in contradiction to his purported Los Angeles testimony that Arbuckle did make these admissions.

"The Four Horsemen."
(At the Criterion.)
Dustin Farnum, popular as a screen star with a class of motion picture patrons, comes to the Criterion today, Friday and Saturday in the "Primal Law," a story of the west by E. Lloyd Shelton, directed by William Fox.

In the role of Brian Llane, rancher, Farnum appears as a strong, manly, and an entirely gentle and kindly nature. There is a charming love story developed amid exciting circumstances. Mary Moran is Farnum's leading woman.

"Where Men Are Men."
(At the Strand.)
A stirring tale of the mining region of Death valley is related in "Where Men Are Men," which will be shown at the Strand theater today, tomorrow and Saturday. This is the type of play with which William Fox and his co-star, Edith Johnson, excel. The greater part of the production is filmed in the almost inaccessible region of Bear lake, in California.

Result in Checking Makers of Moonshine
Danville, Va., September 21.—The economic law of supply and demand has accomplished what that sponsored by Mr. Volstead failed to do, according to reports from the hill sections of Carroll and Patrick counties. With the price of "moonshine" down to $2 per gallon, as compared with $10 a few months ago, many operators have put aside their stills and have taken a new interest in the crops of bright leaf and sorghum.

"The Four Horsemen."
(At the Atlanta Theater.)
But through its own sensational picture success, "The Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse" has been given daily at the Atlanta theater at 2:15 and 8:15. An epic tale of swirling passion sweeping from the wide plains of the Argentine through ten fascinating chapters of the German invasion of northern France, this great picture adapted from the widely-read novel of Blasco Ibanez, has interested the dramatic circle of the original story to an extent that the spectator is held breathless as with swift strokes it hammers home the terror and danger of the war and beyond the struggle the average figures of the four horsemen, the four great plagues of the world, are depicted in the Book of the Apocalypse, charging into our very hearts. And through it all the fulfillment of the promise of a noble art in pictures.

"Bringing Up Father."
(Coming to the Atlanta.)
The many lovers of good, wholesome comedy and musicals will be delighted to learn that the popular musical comedy, "Bringing Up Father," is scheduled to appear at the Atlanta theater next Monday night, when it will begin a special matinee on Wednesday. The story is a comedy of the Manhattan Opera house, New York, which has been a great success at the Metropolitan Opera house, Philadelphia, where it took the championship of action.

This season's offering is said to be a riot of song, laughter, catchy music, smart costumes, pretty girls and scenic production rarely equaled by any other musical comedy. Charlie Chaplin said: "I had many moments following the experiences of 'Bringing Up Father.' It is one of those captivating, snappy, musical comedy offerings which is bound to move the laughter and applaud. Seats now on sale."
